

AN EVENING WITH LONDON ADVENTIST CHORALE

The Mayor and consort Christina and Terry Whitty along with Councillor Jane Pascoe and her husband Paul, attended the Methodist Church on Sunday 24th September for the concert "AN EVENING WITH LONDON ADVENTIST CHORALE". Opening remarks and a warm welcome to a packed church were given by Reverend Mark Pengelly.

The concert was organised by Pastor Clifford Herman. Liskeard Silver Band accompanied the hymns. Other choirs which took part in the performance were Levow Kesson, led by Heather Taylor and the Scratch Choir.

Musical director of the London Adventist Chorale was Mr Ken Burton, who also led all the choirs and the congregation in the hymns. The choirs were incredible and it was a truly fantastic night of music and singing. Over £600 was raised by the collection on the night for the local food bank.

This is the second year that the London Adventist Chorale Choir has performed at the Methodist church and hopefully they will return next year.
