

Pre-Christmas Lyskerrys magazine

With the usual £1,000 Town Council contribution there is just enough money to publish a pre-Christmas edition of Lyskerrys with the theme Lighting Up Liskeard.

This will probably be 20 pages but could be larger if more advertising is secured.

If this is agreed there will be a content meeting at 2pm on Thursday 15 October, to which all councillors are invited. The initial ideas about content include:

Lighting up Liskeard cover - possibly by Stephen Tolfrey or featuring light-up advent panel

Christmas

Lighting up Liskeard - how you can join in at home, including craft ideas for lanterns using recycled materials.

Events - virtual switch on, Christmas market(s), church events

Kana Nadelik

Christmas shopping in our safe local shops and options for celebration meals at home

Celebrating Liskeard's community

How community organisations have helped during the pandemic, with support from Liskeard Town Council

How the school helped by making visors and other school content?

How to get help and how to offer help - directory

Messages from GP surgeries around accessing healthcare and public health advice

Liskeard Together

Pluss

News on major developments

Cattle Market

Library

Recycling - working on easier kerb-side recycling in the town centre and the South Hill scheme for hard-to-recycle items for charity.

Liskeard remembers - highlights from VE day, VJ day and Remembrance Sunday

Proposed timings

15 October Content meeting

29 October Copy completed

3 November magazine to printers

Friday 13 November - copies delivered to TC

Saturday 28 November virtual Lights Up

Costings:

Editing and design £1,400

Print for 6,000 copies of 20 pages £1,209

Distribution £550

Total £3,159 (of which £2,159 will be paid by LAMB and £1,000 by the Town Council).

It is proposed that distribution is done by the usual mixture of volunteers supplemented by paid distribution at 10p per item plus a small premium for outlying areas. It is assumed that the scouts and air cadets will not be able to help so more has been allowed for paid distribution.
